Today's Sermon

Acts 4:32-37
"One Heart and One Mind"

³² All the believers were one in heart and mind.

Whatever the circumstances of the parting, grief is a close companion of goodbye. God created us for community, and when physical separation breaks our community, we grieve. We long for togetherness. I remind myself, it's okay to cry at goodbyes. As believers, we stand in a long line of the faithful who have grieved at a departure. However, we grieve with the hope and knowledge that eternal togetherness is certain.

'Grant, O Lord, that we might take our leave of one another now, feeling a right joy for the blessings of the hours we have shared, even as we feel a bright and hopeful sorrow at their close.

Friends and saints and fellow pilgrims, we part now in the confidence that in our diverging paths we walk the same road, fanning the same flame, and that in time we will meet again in a fellowship forever unbroken.

By your Spirit, O Christ, make us faithful in the meanwhile, as we go out to labor in the diverse fields to which you have assigned us, laboring unto that better meeting, and unto that new-made world that is yet promised and that has already begun.
